Kestrel Ridge Software: Remote-work guide

Version 2.0 | Effective Monday, February 1, 2027 | Replaces version 1.3 | Owner: People Team

1. Who this guide is for

This guide applies to every employee in a hybrid role. It doesn't apply to roles that must be done on site, such as reception and IT hardware support.

2. How many days you can work from home

Staff can work from home for up to 2 days a week. Your line manager approves which days, based on your team's needs. Most teams choose fixed days, so everyone knows who's in the office.

You can ask your line manager for an exception for a short period, such as during a home renovation or after an operation. Exceptions longer than four weeks also need approval from the People Team.

New employees work in the office every day for their first 3 months, so they can get to know their team.

3. Being available

- Be available during core hours, 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Eastern Time.
- Keep your calendar up to date and set your chat status when you step away.
- Join video calls with your camera on for team meetings, unless there's a good reason not to.

4. Your home workspace

Work somewhere quiet where others can't read your screen or hear client calls. The company provides a laptop, a monitor, a keyboard, a mouse, and a headset for home use. You can also claim up to US$250 once every three years toward a desk or chair, through the Expenses Policy.

5. Security at home

- Use your home Wi-Fi with a strong password, or your phone's hotspot. Don't use public Wi-Fi without the company VPN.
- Don't print client documents at home.
- Lock your laptop when you leave it, even at home.

6. Working from another location

You can work from another address in the United States for up to 2 weeks a year, with your line manager's approval. Working from another country, even for a day, needs approval from the People Team first, because of tax and legal rules.

7. What changed in version 2.0

Version 2.0 reduced the number of home-working days from 3 to 2 a week, and added the 3-month office period for new employees.