Kestrel Ridge Software: Travel policy

Version 3.1 | Effective Wednesday, July 1, 2026 | Owner: Finance

1. Before you travel

All business travel needs approval from your line manager before you book. Travel that includes a flight or an overnight stay must be booked through the company travel portal, so we know where you are in an emergency.

2. Flights

- Book economy class for flights under 6 hours.
- Premium economy is allowed for flights of 6 hours or more.
- Book at least 14 days ahead where you can. Last-minute flights need a reason in the booking.

3. Hotels

Choose a hotel from the travel portal where you can. The nightly limit, before taxes, is US$220 in most US cities and US$300 in New York, San Francisco, Boston, and Washington, D.C.

4. Ground transportation

- Use public transportation or a shuttle where it's practical.
- Taxis and rideshares are fine between the airport and your hotel, and between your hotel and a client site.
- Rental cars need approval and should be the smallest suitable size.
- If you use your own car for business travel, you can claim mileage at US$0.62 per mile.

5. Meals while traveling

While you're away overnight, you can claim up to US$75 a day for meals, including tips. Alcohol isn't refunded unless it's part of approved client entertainment under the Expenses Policy.

6. Receipts

Keep receipts for every travel cost of US$75 or more. Smaller costs can be claimed without a receipt, with a short note of what they were for.

7. Safety

If something goes wrong while you're traveling, call the 24-hour travel assistance line on (614) 555-0164. If a hotel or client site seems unsafe, leave and tell your line manager. The company will cover the cost of moving.
